BRITISH LOSE TWO WARSHIPS IN SEA FIGHT

Cruiser Manchester and Carrier Eagle Sunk in Mediterranean

BUT CONVOY GETS THROUGH TO MALTA

U. S. Carrier Wasp Reported by Axis To Have Been Damaged

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 14.—One of the greatest sea and air battles of the Mediterranean has cost Britain the cruiser Manchester and the aircraft carrier Eagle, but resulted in delivery of reinforcements and new planes for Malta and saw Italy's cruisers again turn tail and run, according to the British admiralty.

Known Axis losses include two submarines sunk and two cruisers hit by torpedoes, said the admiralty's communique which today gave the first official Allied account of the battle which had been in progress since Tuesday.

The admiralty intimated that the convoy might have suffered further losses or damage, saying, "it is not to be expected that extensive and dangerous operations of this type, carried out in close proximity to enemy bases, can be completed without loss."

It declared, however, that published Axis claims were known to be exaggerated.

The Axis Claims
Combined German and Italian claims included: sunk, three cruisers, two destroyers, 21 merchant ships and the aircraft carrier Eagle; damaged, one battleship, two aircraft carriers, including the U. S. aircraft carrier Wasp, and "numerous other steamers and men-of-war."

Originally, however, the Germans had claimed only 21 merchant ships were in the entire convoy.

With the exception of the Eagle, the Manchester and the Polish destroyer Kujawiak, apparently in the same action, there has been no confirmation of these Axis claims from any source.

The Manchester was a 9,200-ton cruiser completed Aug. 4, 1938. She usually carried 700 men. Her main battery consisted of 12 6-inch guns. Carrying three planes, she was one of six of the Newcastle class of cruisers.

The communique hinted at the possibility of further British losses in a "dangerous operation of this type," but declared that published enemy claims of damage to the convoy were "known to be exaggerated."

ATTACK WATCHMAN AT LISBON PLANT

LISBON, Aug. 14.—Police and deputy sheriffs today searched for a suspect who attacked Edward Crooks, fireman at the Excelsior Fire Clay Co. at the southwest edge of Lisbon last night.

Crooks, sitting just inside the door at the plant, looked up in time to see a man swing a club down upon him. Crooks managed to duck but the club grazed his face.

The fireman managed to hit back at his assailant who succeeded in escaping. Police believe that robbery was the motive in the attack.

Ideals Of Atlantic Charter, Year Old, Reaffirmed by FDR

Pens Message to Prime Minister Winston Churchill On Anniversary of Historic Meeting; Sees Happier World As War Goal

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—On the first anniversary of the signing of the Atlantic charter, President Roosevelt reaffirmed today his faith in its eight cardinal principles as the basis for a better and happier world "when victory comes."

The chief executive and Prime Minister Winston Churchill of England penned their names on the historic declaration in a secret meeting at sea exactly a year ago, when the United States still watched the war from the sidelines. Since then, all the United Nations have accepted its enunciation of post-war aims as a foundation upon which a permanent peace must rest.

"When victory comes," Mr. Roosevelt asserted in a message to Churchill today, "we shall stand shoulder to shoulder in seeking to nourish the great ideals for which we fight. It is a worthwhile battle. It will be so recognized through all the ages, even amid the unfortunate peoples who follow false gods today."

"We reaffirm our principles. They will bring us to a happier world." These, in brief, are the charter's eight principles:

No territorial or other aggrandizement.

No territorial changes not in accord with the freely expressed wishes of the peoples concerned.

Respect for the rights of all peoples to choose their forms of government.

Equal access by all nations to world trade and raw materials.

Full international economic collaboration.

Establishment of a peace assuring safety to all nations and freedom from want and fear to all men.

Freedom of the seas.

Abandonment of the use of force among nations; disarmament of those threatening aggression.

On these points, the President told the prime minister, "we based, and continue to base, our hopes for a better future for the world."

A year ago, he declared, nations fighting for their existence against a "common, barbaric foe," were united in small groups. Now these nations and groups of nations, in all the continents, he said, have formed a great union or humanity, dedicated to realization of the program of purposes and principles of the Atlantic charter, through a victory over common enemies.

Threat of Strike at Perth Amboy Plant Fades After Officer's Plea

(By Associated Press)
BAYONNE, N. J., Aug. 14.—High-ranking navy and army officers entered the strike-bound plant of the General Cable corporation today under presidential order to take over its operations.

The army officers arrived first, in two cars, with Brig. Gen. R. K. Robertson identified as one of them. Fifteen minutes later Rear Adm. Harold G. Bowen led a navy party into the plant.

After they had entered the plant, General Robertson's chauffeur stood guard at the gate with a sub-machine gun. No pickets were in sight.

A short time after the navy took over, 800 strikers voted unanimously to end the authorized strike and return to work at 4 p. m.

Michael Petrakian, strike chairman, said the workers would return under the same conditions that prevailed before the strike was called Monday midnight.

Ordered by F. D. R.
President Roosevelt yesterday gave the order to take over after the strikers, estimated 1,000 by their leader, voted to continue the walkout they started Monday midnight.

Admiral Bowen, former chief of the navy's bureau of engineering, took charge of the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock company at Kearney when the navy seized it and operated it for 134 days last year before returning it to private management.

A strike leader yesterday hailed the presidential order and forecast it would signalize an immediate mass return to work.

Yanks Battle Round Globe As Offensive Power Grows

Uncle Sam's Muscles Swelling As Men and Materials Reach Far-Flung Battlefronts

By DE WITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analyst

The outstanding development among the big events which are boiling in all parts of our war-torn globe is Uncle Sam's acquisition finally of the strength to assume the offensive in widely separated theaters.

This eagerly awaited moment arrives as the war is rushing to the crisis of what may easily be the decisive year. Ultimate outcome of the conflict may well depend on what happens in the few remaining weeks before winter throws a barrier in front of the onrushing Hitlerites.

Further indication of Uncle Sam's increasing power comes from the disclosure that United States fighter planes are for the first time operating from British bases on a large scale against the Huns in western Europe.

MORE CZECHS ARE EXECUTED

Belgian Patriots Attack Airdrome, Killing 16 German Soldiers

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Aug. 14.—Official Czech circles reported today the execution of 10 of their countrymen on various charges at Prague and Bruenn in two days this week.

Quoting official German statements, the Czechs said four were executed at Prague on accusations of preparing high treason and four for arson and "blackout crimes," while two were executed at Bruenn on charges of operating a secret wireless transmitter.

American sources also reported the execution of a former chief clerk in the United States consulate at Salonika, Greece. A naturalized Greek, he was said to have been among 20 hostages shot.

Attack Nazi Airdrome

(The BBC, in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS, said also that Belgian patriots were reported to have attacked a German military airdrome in the Liege district, burning four planes and killing 16 Germans, while the Gestapo was said to have arrested 40 workmen in the search for persons responsible for wrecking two blast furnaces in a Belgian metallurgical factory.)

Nazi broadcasts repeated today threats of death as reprisal against Dutch hostages unless railway saboteurs in the occupied Netherlands surrendered by midnight tonight and fear was expressed by Netherlands government sources here that a "terrible slaughter" was impending.

The Germans were said to hold 1,600 hostages.

Police are holding a 33-year-old man on an open charge as a result of the altercation which occurred when Oswald's car collided with one in which the suspect was riding.

Oswald, who was beaten fatally with a board, died in the emergency room at St. Elizabeth's hospital, police said.

The automobile accident was of such a minor nature that police did not make a report of it.

BLACK MARKET ACTION FILED

Alleged Illegal Sales of Steel Hit in Cleveland and Suit

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—James C. Greuner, regional attorney for the Office of Price Administration, said the first suit aimed at halting "black market" steel sales would be filed today in federal court here.

The OPA attorney said the civil action would seek to restrain Willard Markle, a Cleveland steel buyer, from purchasing steel from warehouses and reselling at prices in excess of the ceiling.

Greuner declared the suit resulted from investigation of statements by Andrew Jackson Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder, before a congressional inquiry at Washington.

He asserted Markle had purchased steel from various warehouses and sold it to the Higgins Industries, Inc., at prices averaging about $20 a ton above the ceiling price. Greuner added the injunction suit specifically charged Markle with disposing of 160,000 pounds of steel to the Higgins firm at excessive prices.

JAPS ATTEMPT TO REINFORCE ISLAND POSTS

Three Separate Attacks are Made On Foe In New Guinea Waters

LITTLE REVEALED ON LAND FIGHTING

Clash of Major Proportions Seen, However, In South Seas Action

(By Associated Press)
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S Headquarters, Australia, Aug. 14.—The battle of the Solomon Islands exploded over a broadening area of the South Seas today with Allied bombers blasting at Japanese warships and transports apparently trying to reinforce garrisons hurried out of three coastal areas by United States marines.

Allied flying fortresses and medium bombers caught the enemy vessels in New Guinea waters, west of the Solomons, yesterday, and drove home three separate attacks, a headquarters communique reported.

News of the land fighting still was meager as the battle entered its second week, and Washington's navy communique said only that operations were continuing.

Seen As Major Battle

There was every indication nevertheless that this first Allied offensive of the war had now grown into a clash of major proportions and one which might alter the whole course of the Pacific struggle.

(The Japanese reported—without confirmation from any Allied source—that their forces in the Solomons action had sunk 13 British and American cruisers, nine destroyers, 10 transports and three submarines; had damaged one cruiser, three destroyers and one transport; and shot down 58 planes. Japanese losses were given as two cruisers slightly damaged and 21 planes lost. U. S. Admiral Ernest J. King announced last Monday that Allied losses then included a cruiser sunk and two destroyers, two destroyers and a transport damaged.)

(Tokyo's claims recalled its extravagant reports of Allied losses in the Coral Sea and Midway battles, which bore no resemblance to the facts. Both of those battles resulted in Japanese defeats.)

Enemy Planes Shot Down

The headquarters communique said that during the first of yesterday's attacks on the Japanese ships off New Guinea, six Japanese Zero fighters challenged a flight of flying fortresses and that two enemy craft were shot down and three damaged.

Seven Zeros engaged medium bombers in the second attack and one of the enemy fighters was destroyed. The third Allied attack was carried out without interference.

All the Allied planes returned to their bases, but some sustained damage.

The Japanese vessels attacked in New Guinea waters presumably were heading towards the Solomons from Salamaua, their chief base in New Guinea, or from Rabaul or Gasmata, in New Britain.

LAWYER WILL HEAD GOP FINANCE UNIT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Samuel B. Pettigill, South Bend, Ind., lawyer who served four terms in the house as a Democrat, has been appointed chairman of the Republican national finance committee.

Pettigill declined to discuss the appointment, announced last night by Chairman Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of the Republican national committee.

Marlin said Pettigill, whom he described as one of the leaders of the fight against the supreme court bill and an opponent of the third term, would set up offices in New York soon preparatory to the fall congressional campaigns.

He succeeds Sinclair Weeks, West Newton, Mass., manufacturer, who was named national committee treasurer in 1941.

Before retiring from congress in 1939 Pettigill represented a northern Indiana industrial area embracing South Bend, Elkhart, Michigan City and Laporte.

REP. FISH AND HIS SILVER LINING

By all odds the most publicized congressional primary was in New York's 26th district, where Rep. Hamilton Fish, leading Republican isolationist before Pearl Harbor, is running for reelection. Mr. Fish had been blackballed by President Roosevelt. Thomas E. Dewey, the fair-haired boy of 1940 until Wendell Willkie got in the way, didn't want him. Mr. Willkie said he should be repudiated, and Mr. Willkie is titular head of the Republican party. On top of all this, the 26th district is Mr. Roosevelt's home district, so the renomination of Mr. Fish tended to become a vote of confidence in the President's claim that the district no longer should support its representative in congress.

The upshot of it all is that Mr. Fish was nominated. There will be more manipulation by Democrats in New York state and in Washington, D. C., to keep him from being elected. It is possible the administration may spend almost as much time worrying about him as about reduction of non-war spending and other vital matters.

All of which is reported to be worrying Mr. Fish not very much. He has been in politics a long time. He probably estimates that his chances of being re-elected improve in proportion to the eagerness of his opponents to ruin him. It is an axiom in American politics that voters never run a fever in a candidate's favor until their right to vote as they please is challenged by some higher authority.

THE ATLANTIC CHARTER A YEAR LATER

Events of the last year have given more meaning to the Atlantic Charter than most readers found there at first sight. It is a greater document than it was on Aug. 14, 1941, because time has revealed the alternatives to its promise of peace, safety and security.

The fundamental issue of the war has been defined, not by theorists but by the aggressors, themselves. They have offered nothing—they have nothing to offer—but oppression, terror and exploitation. That is what they have given the Greeks, the Poles, the Czechs and the Norwegians. It is what they have given their own people. It is what they would like to give everybody who resists them.

The alternative to their stick-'em-up policy is the Atlantic Charter. Few Americans, few Britons and few citizens of the other government that have subscribed to the principles of the Charter can enumerate the eight points. But enumeration of points is unnecessary. The Charter's purpose is to establish an international condition of peace and safety to all nations within their borders and to assure to all human beings the opportunity of choosing their government and living out their lives in freedom from fear and want.

There are hundreds of millions of human beings who have no reason to endure what they are suffering except the hope that some day the Charter may become their way of life.

ARSENAL OF DEMOCRACY

Another salvage campaign, this time for scrap iron and steel and other metals, which will be arranged for Salem within a short time, should be as serious in its way as the fighting in the Pacific. Shortage of metals needed in war production is not imaginary. It is one of the grim, hard facts of the American war front.

The household finding a few pounds of metal to turn in for salvage, not just metal that has been discarded but borderline metal that can be spared from whatever dubious purpose it may be serving, is making a direct contribution to success.

Unless sufficient metal can be obtained through wholly voluntary contributions, it will become necessary later for the government to confiscate metal. War production is at stake—war production to give the men who have gone abroad the implements they must have to meet the enemy on even terms.

The notion lingers that the collection of salvage is some kind of an exercise to keep idle hands busy; that the salvage isn't really needed. There have been some mistakes, but anyone who argues that because the aluminum and waste paper drives were mishandled that all similar campaigns should be treated coolly is kidding himself about one of the important facts of the war. The arsenal of democracy is going to be an empty promise unless enough metal can be found to keep its production lines moving.

CRISIS FOR GERMANS

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The Stockholm paper Dagens Nyheter suggested today that a Russian offensive northwest of Moscow had confronted the Germans with a "crisis," the Swedish radio reported in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS.

Only fragmentary reports on an offensive in that area have come from Moscow, but the Swedish broadcaster said, "the situation on the eastern front has now developed into a crisis for both the belligerents," the Dagens Nyheter's military correspondent writes today.

"The critical factor for the Germans," the newspaper pointed out, "lies in whether their forces are really sufficient both to annihilate the Russian armies in the Don elbow and for a decisive victory on the northern front."

"In this respect the Russians' new offensive northwest of Moscow may prove to be of the most vital significance."

"This offensive may force the Germans to adopt new and far-reaching measures, and it may thus influence the defense on the shores of the rivers Don and Kuban, and right up into the mountain regions of the Caucasus."

"The German reports of large-scale bombing attacks against powerful Russian forces in depth on the northern sector indicates that it is a question of something far different from and more extensive than the usual short-lived diversionary thrusts which have always characterized the Russian offensive tactic in critical situations."

"From the German point of view, therefore, the crisis consists in having to decide whether one dare take risks on the Rzhev front without weakening their forces in the south, notably their fighting forces in the air but also other units as well, in a desperate attempt, and give the Russians a breathing space down there and the time to organize fresh resistance."

UNDULANT FEVER IN CHRONIC FORM

Symptoms Are Described in Physician's Article

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

"A THOUGHTLESS diagnosis of neurasthenia or nervous prostration is set upon many an unfortunate patient who is in fact suffering from chronic undulant fever infection."

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

"I referred to the acute form in my article yesterday, pointing out that it came from drinking milk of an infected animal and from handling the flesh of infected animals. This last is an occupational disease and hardly concerns the average citizen. For him the great protection lies in the use of pasteurized or certified milk."

But undulant fever got its name because it is a sluggish, undulating, low fever and anybody anywhere may sometimes get hold of some milk where the pasteurization did not entirely kill off all the germs and a mild form of infection ensues. We said yesterday it was a fever "with nothing to show for it." In other words, no pain to speak of, nothing localizing to draw attention to any part of the body.

Mild Infections
The person with a mild infection may feel seedy for a while—notice no more than loss of pep, poor appetite, constipation, a little nagging headache, or muscular ache, muscular rheumatism of mild joint pains—not enough to take him to a doctor. And then much of this wears off and the chronic stage supervenes, consisting of no more than just a daily feeling of fatigue worse in the afternoon, and a deep-rooted aversion to starting anything new.

There is a sure way of testing to see whether a person has ever had an undulant infection and that is by a skin test. This is performed by injecting a very small amount of vaccine of the dead germs into the skin with a hypodermic. At the end of 24 hours if the person has ever harbored undulant germs, the site of injection in the skin becomes red and stays so until 48 hours after the injection. This is quite a reliable test and allows your doctor to decide whether in a given case the symptoms of prolonged fatigue and listlessness are due to an old chronic undulant infection or not.

Imitates Many Things
A list of the conditions which undulant fever may imitate sounds like the catalogue of diseases on the old patent medicine bottle. It includes influenza, bronchitis, sinus disease, gall-bladder infection, appendicitis, dyspepsia, sciatica, lumbago, neurasthenia, hysteria and five kinds of skin diseases.

Once recognized for its true self, treatment by vaccines made from the organism usually quickly brings about relief. The person with the chronic infection has been fighting a sluggish foe and is able to down it well enough to drag around. But the foe never rouses his fighting forces enough to kill it off. The vaccine is the same foe in a dead or chemical form, and may make him feel worse for a while, but that is just because his immunity is rising enough to kill off the enemy completely.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

J. S.—In a person with an inactive thyroid condition, will the flabby fat disappear when thyroid extract is given, and will a person lose weight, and how long will it take?

Answer: Thyroid extract makes flabby fat disappear and coincidentally reduces weight no matter whether the thyroid extract is normal or not. How long it will take depends upon how much thyroid extract is taken. It is seldom safe to take more than a quarter grain a day.

SUGAR OUTLOOK IN '43 IS FAVORABLE

(By Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON, Aug. 14. — Consumers may expect at least as much sugar in the first nine months of 1943 as the present basic ration, OPA said today, "provided the shipping outlook does not take a turn for the worse."

The basic ration for household consumers is eight ounces a week, and 70 per cent of 1941 use for industrial uses.

Rations allowances for the remainder of the year, the Office of Price Administration said, are being gauged to provide a supply of at least 2,300,000 tons of sugar Jan. 1, 1943.

Harold B. Rowe, chief of the OPA food rationing division, under whose direction the report was prepared, said that if the shipping situation "turns out to be better than we now have the right to expect, or if the distribution is less than expected," any excess supply of sugar can be distributed as a bonus, or extra allowance to consumers.

JACKSON, Miss.—Mississippi had thirteen 13-year-old brides in 1941 and one bridegroom who gave his age as 102.

There were 62 fourteen-year-old brides and 266 fifteen-year-old. The oldest bridegroom was a Negro, the board of health division of vital statistics said. Seven of the 13-year-old brides were white.

TOPEKA, Kas.—The report to the secretary of state's office indicated the recent primary election count was finished quickly indeed out in Iowa township, Sherman county.

VARIED SERVICES FREE OF CEILINGS

Group Has Little Relation To Cost of Living, Asserts OPA

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Prices on 25 services ranging from shoe shining to termite eradication were free of government regulation today.

The services which included watch repairing, boarding dogs, and horseshoeing, were exempted from price ceilings, the Office of Price Administration explained, because they had "little relation to the cost of living."

Simultaneously, price regulations of 61 more important groups of services which cost the nation about $5,000,000,000 annually, underwent an OPA overhauling.

Formerly controlled by specific service price ceilings or by the general maximum price regulation prescribing use of the highest prices charged last March, rates on the 61 services now will be fixed by use of the same price methods employed in March.

The new regulations apply to rental and repair of automobiles, bicycles, business machinery, store and kitchen equipment; development and printing of photographs; shoe repairing, dry cleaning, picture framing, radio repairs, knife sharpening, repair of farm machinery, commission selling, car loading, rental of transportation equipment, sand-blasting, services of custom brokers, and other related classifications.

Meantime, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard considered an OPA inquiry about advisability of ceilings on live cattle, hogs and lambs.

Wickard observed at a press conference yesterday that he could not see how price ceilings on livestock would increase meat supplies. Present shortages of meat, he added, reflect a problem of distribution of available supplies and the problem might be solved by consumer rationing.

OHIO WALNUT TREES USED IN GUNSTOCKS

PIQUA, Aug. 14.—Ohio's American walnut trees are needed for the war effort—to make gunstocks.

Burdett Green of Chicago, secretary of the National Walnut Manufacturers association, said Ohio's huge walnut yield, third highest in the nation, would become increasingly important to the war effort. The state produced 4,990,000 board feet of walnut last year.

Farmers and wood-lot owners were asked to offer walnut trees to the nearest lumber mill and plant others in their places. Green declared there is no walnut shortage.

Cut and Bruised

LISBON, Aug. 14.—Naomi Williams suffered cuts and bruises when the automobile in which she was riding struck a pole at the corner of N. Market and Beaver streets here at 12:30 a. m. today. Lloyd Pugh of R. D. Lisbon, driver of the car, was unhurt, police reported.

HUNT AXIS RAIDER IN SOUTH ATLANTIC

(By Associated Press)

Cruisers and warplanes were reported on the hunt today for an Axis surface raider preying on Allied shipping in the South Atlantic. Other developments in the battle of the Atlantic included the sinking by enemy submarines of two small Cuban merchantmen in the Gulf of Mexico.

Brazilian sources in Rio de Janeiro indicated that heavy warships and planes had joined in a search since radioed reports last Monday that at least two United Nations vessels had been attacked by a surface raider 1,000 miles east of Rio.

Pending further information, the reported South Atlantic victims were not included in the Associated Press tabulation of announced Allied or neutral ship losses which, counting the two Cuban craft, put at 422 the number of such Western Atlantic merchant sinkings since Pearl Harbor.

Likewise withheld from tabulation pending further details was the sinking of a Brazilian tanker by a German submarine in the Caribbean 450 miles from the nearest U. S. coast. This attack was disclosed yesterday with the arrival of 18 survivors at a Caribbean port.

Rationing Board Program Outlined

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 14.—The local rationing board has been organized by the Salem War Price and Rationing board to function for the convenience of the village of Columbiana. The local chairman, Herbert C. Nolan, has been named to membership on the Salem board. All members of the local board are members of the rationing council.

The council meets once a month to investigate rationing and review distribution. The local board will continue to meet in the city hall at 6 p. m. each Wednesday as in the past.

Civilian Defense workers, fire wardens, air raid wardens and other interested people gathered at Firestone park recently to witness the exhibition of incendiary bombs.

The bombs were prepared by local manufacturing plants and the fire company assisting them. This demonstration was in charge of Al Beach who has been at the head of these co-ordinated meetings of defense workers. Beach attended a state meeting at Columbus where he received his instructions.

This was the final meeting of the series of coordinated meetings and the groups will now hold specialized meetings.

The Columbiana County Christian Endeavor convention will be held in the local Grace Reformed church Aug. 28. The theme of the meeting will be "Victory for Christ and the Church."

Mr. and Mrs. Sam ustHon of East Palestine called on local friends Thursday evening.

Because of their use both for food and oil, peanuts are being produced at a 155 per cent increase over 1941.

AUTO GRAVEYARDS AID WAR MACHINE

Columbiana County Yields 785 Tons During Last 30 Days

Cleveland, Aug. 14.—Automobile graveyards in 47 northern Ohio counties poured 19,569 tons of iron and steel scrap into the war production machine during the past 30 days, the district automobile salvage section announced today.

Cuyahoga county led the area with 3,162 tons for this period. Summit county yard dealers provided 1,459; Lucas county 1,049 and Mahoning county 1,030.

In the previous 30-day period, the area shipped 21,751 tons of iron and steel to be scrapped.

A. M. Robinson, district salvage chief, said the shrinkage in tonnage was due to intense activity earlier and depleted inventories. "Old jalopies are not being scrapped by individuals as quickly now as they were previously," he added. "This is unfortunate, because the scrap in these old cars is urgently needed for war production. A car's value as scrap is about $7.50 to $15, but its value to the war effort cannot be measured in dollars and cents."

He urged all owners of jalopies and unusable cars to sell them to automobile graveyard dealers as soon as possible.

His reports showed tonnage shipped in the past 30 days from northern Ohio counties as follows: Allen, 447; Ashland, 555; Ashabula, 202; Belmont, 690; Columbiana, 785; Coshocton, 288; Crawford, 638; Defiance, 263; Erie, 494; Fulton, 190; Geauga, 85; Hancock, 93; Hardin, 211; Harrison, 9; Henry, 78; Holmes, 31; Huron, 407; Jefferson, 712; Knox, 241; Lake, 180; Lorain, 292; Marion, 194; Medina, 275; Morrow, 63; Ottawa, 72; Paulding, 129; Portage, 181; Putnam, 61; Richland, 235; Sandusky, 314; Seneca, 245; Stark, 85; Trumbull, 308; Tuscarawas, 392; Van Wert, 162; Wayne, 838; Williams, 924; Wood, 177; Wyandot, 439.

STEEL COMPANIES SIGN CONTRACTS

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 14.—The CIO United Steelworkers announced today that two more "Little Steel" corporations—Republic and Youngstown Sheet and Tube—have signed contracts with the union as required by the War Labor Board's decision last month.

Bethlehem Steel is the only one of the four companies in the "Little Steel" group not yet signed. The union said that "negotiations, meeting in New York, are in virtual agreement on terms of that contract." Inland steel signed August 5.

The contracts include the directives of the War Labor Board—a 5½-cent-an-hour pay increase, retroactive to last February; a maintenance of union clause and check-off of union dues.

The Republic contract covers approximately 50,000 employees; the Youngstown Sheet & Tube contract, about 22,000. Each employee stands to receive $50 to $60 in back pay.

MORE CZECHS ARE SLAIN BY GERMANS

There were new reports of continued sabotage. The Germans announced that four persons were arrested in an attempt to blow up a Nazi-controlled radio station.

A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm said Gen. Friedrich Christiansen, Nazi commander in the Netherlands, declared that explosives found on those arrested were of "foreign origin. He was quoted as threatening reprisal against Dutch hostages throughout the district.

German Troops Killed

None of the Nazi broadcasts heard here specified the number of hostages whose lives would be forfeited if the saboteurs who wrecked a Netherlands train a week ago failed to surrender.

An undisclosed number of German troops were killed in the wreck.

Meanwhile the Norwegian government in London said it had been unable to learn yet what punishment if any had been inflicted on some 900 men, women and children who were arrested in Oslo Aug. 3 for wearing flowers to commemorate the birthday of King Haakon of Norway.

There were new reports of Axis reprisals and threats in old Yugoslavia.

Roundabout reports to Reuters said the Italians who "blasted the little Yugoslav village of Ravnik out of the ground" because of patriot activity, posted notices threatening death to any residents of neighboring villages who gave shelter to the homeites.

American sources in London received word from Greece that David Tiano, 38, former chief clerk in the United States consulate in Salonika, had been shot by the Germans as a hostage.

Tiano was among 20 hostages shot in groups of 10 during January, the source said. He was a naturalized Greek of Spanish-Jewish ancestry.

MERRY CHRISTMAS! MAIL EARLY, IS TIP!

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Merry Christmas from the ODT! Despite the transportation problem, there won't be any government restrictions on Christmas packages next Yuletide, nor on Christmas cards.

That was the answer of the Office of Defense Transportation yesterday when government agencies were asked whether carloads of Christmas mail still would be permitted to roll across the country as in the days when munitions and airplane parts weren't competing for space.

The postoffice department said it hadn't thought about the matter yet, but ODT already had delved into the problem and come up with the answer given above.

The bundles for soldiers and kinfolk will move mainly in box-cars, ODT said, and it appears there will be "a comfortable supply" of such cars even though "open-top" cars, like coal cars and flat-cars, are in direct need. Christmas cards travel in railway express cars, also plentiful enough.

ODT's loading regulations have conserved much boxcar space and these will be crunched up again on Sept. 10 when no car may carry less than 10 tons of package freight. Last year the average load for this type of cargo was five tons.

Neither will there be undue delay in handling the mail, ODT predicted. This results from the order requiring railroads to divert shipments to other carriers if they can't handle them within 24 hours. But just one reminder—the war department last Sunday advised early mailing of those all-important bundles for the fighting men overseas.

CAN'T SET MAXIMUM ON CANNING SUGAR

COLUMBUS, Aug. 14.—Harry T. Beckmann, state price administration director, informed local rationing boards today they can not set maximum sugar canning allotments.

"No maximum was placed on the amount of fruit canning sugar a family might apply for and obtain because families vary in size, because the availability of fruit varies in different communities and canning customs vary," Beckmann said. "To prevent waste of sugar, the regulation does say that one pound of sugar to four quarts of fruit or fruit juice is sufficient for palatability and as a preserving agent."

CHAPTER THIRTY-EIGHT

The shell-shocked veteran stood still for a moment, while she regained her breath. "It's all right—nobody saw you—we're safe so far. The men have gone—the Bitter got mad and said he'd give me what he gave the Gunner." She laughed. "But of course that wouldn't help—they've got the law on their side—the law and the doctor. I didn't say much to Bitter. He means well, but as soon as he's had a few drinks he tells all he knows, which isn't much as a rule, but it's too much just now. So he'd better not know about us till he finds out."

"Us?"

"Well, of course. We're going to get married, aren't we?"

"But how can I mean—"

"Are you being the little gentleman again?"

"It's not that, but isn't it time—"

"Listen, Smithy, I'm only trying to help you—"

"I know that, but it's time I began helping myself."

"What a moment to think of it!"

"Isn't that I'm not grateful, but—"

"I know, you feel independent. Well, go on your own then, but where will it take you? You haven't an idea. One place is as good as another, what's wrong with Selchester then? I'm there for the week and after I've gone you can do as you like. You've got those ten fivers in your pocket, haven't you?"

"Yes."

"Then hand over half to me."

"He did so, willingly and seriously; she took them with a laugh. "Thanks, Smithy—you'll feel better now."

"They reached Selchester late at night, after a confused journey by various trains and buses; but all the way he had been aware of a barrier rising between them, so that at Selchester Station she summoned a cab and did not suggest that he accompany her. "You'll be all right, Smithy—the town's full of pubs and lodgings—I reckon you'd rather choose one yourself. I lodge with the company, of course. Well, good night—you're safe here if you look after yourself, and you will, won't you?" She leaned up and gave him a sudden kiss—the first she had ever given him, but he knew it meant less than her hand touch the first time they had met. "Good night, old boy," she repeated.

"Good night, Paula."

When her cab turned the corner and he was left alone with the crowd of strangers in the station yard, he felt suddenly, hopelessly lost. It was a sensation of sheer panic for the moment, but he conquered it—as if he had seen a loathed insect and shudderingly got it with his heel. He walked into a near-by hotel and engaged a cheap room under the name of Smith. They gave him a very small attic with dormer windows and a view over the railway goods yard; throughout the night he kept waking up with a start whenever express trains screamed by, but somehow he did not mind that kind of panic; it was the inner kind that paralyzed him—or rather, could not quite paralyze him any more, since he had fought it, alone and so terribly, after she had gone. How comforting, as well as fearful, that word alone was; he wanted aloneness, because it was the hardest training ground for the kind of strength he also wanted; and yet, once he had that strength, he knew he would not wish to be alone....

He knew, too, that his feeling for Paula was no longer an eagerness to submit, like a child; but something positive, strong enough to demand equality, if there were ever to be any further relationship between them at all. He knew there probably could not be. That warm cuppouring pity had saved his life, but he could only keep his life from now on by refusing it. Lying awake that night in the Station Hotel, he made up his mind that he would not try to see her in Selchester that week; she would be busy, no doubt, with rehearsals and performances; and he, too, ought to be busy—looking for a job if the town offered any, and if not, deciding where else to go.

For five days he walked about Selchester alone. He visited the Cathedral, sat for hours in the Close under the trees, spent an afternoon in a very dull municipal museum, watched the trains in and out of the railway station, read the papers in the free library. None of these pursuits involved conversation, and—except to waitresses and the maid at the hotel—he did not utter a word for anyone to hear. Sometimes, however, during walks in the surrounding country, he talked to himself a little—not from eccentricity, but to reassure himself of the power of speech. There were a few factories also that he scouted around, wondering if he should ask for a job, but sooner or later he always found a door with a notice "No one to be admitted." He knew that subconsciously he was glad, because he still feared the ordeal of cross-examination by strangers.

One rainy afternoon he sat in the refreshment room at the railway station, drinking a third cup of tea that he did not want and staring at an old magazine that he was not reading. Curious how one had to simulate some normal activity or purpose in life, even if one hadn't one, or especially if one had a secret one; in a town cafe he could not have stayed so long without attracting attention, but at the station it was merely supposed he was waiting for a train. Trains were things people waited hours for; one did not, unless one were peculiar, wait hours for a desire to clarify itself. But that was what he was waiting for.

It was Saturday; he had been in Selchester almost a week. He had a definite desire to go to the theater and see the show, but he could not decide until he felt certain what his desire signified. If it were weakness, an urge to go back on his pledge to himself, he would not give way; he could endure plenty more of the aloneness, it would not break him. But, on the other hand, supposing it were not weakness but strength—supposing it meant that he could now walk into a library or museum, could face the crowd and the lights and the excitement without a quail?

He had walked past the theater several times and had judged the kind of show it was from bills and photographs; nothing very uplifting, but probably good entertainment, and it would be interesting to see what she was capable of. Thus, he made his desire seem casual, normal, almost unimportant, until suddenly he decided he was strong and not weak enough to go. He got up and walked briskly to the counter to pay for the tea. "Gettin' tired of waitin'?" remarked the girl, with mild interest. "The Winton train's late today."

"Yes," he said, smiling. "I think I'll get a breath of fresh air." He left the station and walked through the rain to the center of the city, feeling more and more confident. It was an odd thing, this loss of memory; he could not remember personal things about himself, yet he had a background of experience that gave him a certain maturity of judgment. He had probably been to many theaters before, just as he had probably been to schools and received a decent education. There were things he knew that he could only have picked up from school-books, other things that he could only have learned from some forgotten event. It was as if his memories existed, but was submerged; as if he could lower a net and drag something up, but only blindfold, haphazardly, without the power of selection. He could not stare into the past; he could only grope. But by some kind of queer compensation, his eyes for the present were preternaturally bright; like a child's eyes, naive, ingenious, questioning.

In such a mood he sat in the third row at the first house of the Selchester Hippodrome that night and looked upon a show called Salute the Flag, described on the program as "a stirring heart-gripping drama, pulsating with patriotism and lit by flashes of sparkling comedy." Actually it was a hang-over from wartime, having begun in 1914 as a straight melodrama with no comedy at all, but with many rousing speeches that audiences in those days had liked to cheer. Then, as the war progressed and the popular mood changed from that of Rupert Brooke to that of Horatio Bottomley, the patriotic harangues were shortened to make room for the writing in of a comic part, which speedily became such a success that by 1918 the show had developed into a series of clowning episodes behind which the dramatic structure of what had once been a very bad play appeared only intermittently. Nobody knew the authorship of the original or of any of the later accretions; successful actors had added a gag here and a gag there; every now and then the show became too long, and the parts left out were naturally those that elicited neither laughs nor cheers, no matter how essential they were to the original plot.

But nobody in Merrie England minded that—least of all the audiences who paid their nine-pences and shillings in the few remaining small-town English theaters that had so far escaped conversion into cinema houses. Salute the Flag had certainly helped to preserve the very existence of such a minority; it had also made a great deal of money for a great many people. Probably, in the aggregate, it had been more profitable than many a better-known and well-advertised West End success.

Smith found it endurable, even before the moment when Paula appeared. Her part in the play was trivial, that of an impudent girl at a hotel desk who got people's bedrooms mixed up, but in one of the other scenes she stepped out of the part for a few impersonations in front of the drop curtain; he thought them pretty good; not from any definite competence to judge, but because of the warm vitality that came over the footlights with them, her own rich personality, full of giving—even to a twice-nightly audience. Evidently the audience too were aware of this, for they cheered uproariously, despite the likelihood that few had seen the originals, which included Gerald du Maurier, Gladys Cooper, Mrs. Pat Campbell, and the ex-Kaiser. They cheered so much that she came on again to give an impression of a society woman telephoning her lover, all smiles and simperings, in the midst of grumbling at her maid, all scowls and snarls—a bit of broad unsuitable farce that demanded, however, a sure technique of changed accents and facial expressions.

The popular Paula did not appear again till the final scene in the last act, when the heroine, a nurse, unfolded a huge and rather dirty flag in front of her, and with the words—"You kennot fair on helpless womankind"—defied the villain, who wore the uniform of a German army officer, until such time as the entire rest of the company rushed on to the stage to hustle him off under arrest and to bring down the curtain with the singing of a patriotic chorus. The Smith was halfway down the aisle on his way out of the theater when an usher touched him on the arm. "Excuse me, sir, one of the artists would like you to go behind, if you'd care to. She says you'd know who it was."

He hesitated a moment, then answered: "Why, of course." "This way, sir."

Polo Club Battles Alliance Quartet Sunday For Sixth Time

SALEM CLUB SEEKS REVENGE FOR LOSS TO ALLIANCE AUG. 4

Large Crowd Is Expected To Witness Contest At Alliance

Seeking revenge for a surprise 10-3 loss handed them two weeks ago, the Salem riders will invade Alliance Sunday for a game with the Alliance polo club. The locals will be after their fourth win of the season in the Stark county city Sunday.

Only a few weeks ago, the teams unveiled a polo masterpiece on the Alliance field when they battled in a clean, hard fought contest to a 5-5 deadlock. The game was called by agreement of the two teams and the play-off was set for the following Sunday here. Alliance won the playoff as they scored practically at will against the locals who were suffering a bad day. The final score was 10-3.

The game will have no effect on the Penn-Ohio loop standings in which the Zelenople club leads by a wide margin. The Pennsylvanians have beaten the best teams in the district in running their winning streak to 11. Thus the Salem-Alliance tiff will not hold the tension of a battle which means something to one or both of the quartets.

The Salem lineup will be the same which has taken the field in the majority of the games this year. Will Smith will be at No. 1, the hard-riding Jim Pidgeon at No. 2; Tony Sheen at No. 3 and Earl Stone at No. 4. Alliance will field a team consisting of Drown at No. 1, Murphy at No. 2, Knepper at No. 3, and Bates at No. 4. Murphy starred in the last battle between the teams.

Last season when the two teams met, tempers flared high and sticks flew. Several times players were ejected from the game for unsportsmanlike gestures and several riders were considerably roughed up at times. This season's contests have been different. All five games between the teams so far have been clean and sportsmanlike. There has not been a hint of foul play.

Sunday's game at the Alliance field will probably get under way at 3 p. m. A large crowd is expected to witness the sixth battle between the Salem and Alliance outfits.

GEE WALKER BOOSTS AVERAGE 67 POINTS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 14.—The Cincinnati Reds' record for the last month is nothing to write home about, but veteran outfielder Gerald Walker's work with the bat rates special mention.

Gee boosted his mark from .170 to .237 in the last five weeks. No other regular has shown even a six-point increase.

There's an explanation of it for the sentimental—it's noted that Gee started blasting the ball just about the time he became papa of a seven-pound daughter. In fact, after he received the telegram from Orlando, Fla., he slugged out eight straight hits.

For others, it may be recalled that the Cleveland Indians not so long ago publicly congratulated themselves for dealing their 33-year-old holdout to the Reds last March.

Since July 11, Walker has made 42 hits, including two triples and 17 doubles, knocked in 16 runs, and scored a dozen. In three months of the season prior to that he had 39 hits.

The Redlegs open a four-game series tonight with St. Louis. Eight and one-half games behind the Cards, the Reds lead the fourth-place New York Giants by only a half game. Ray Starr or Paul Deringer was scheduled to hurl against Morton Cooper, the Redbirds' ace right-hander.

Weather knocked out the third and rubber game between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at Pittsburgh yesterday. The contest was rescheduled for Sept. 19.

TRIBE PURCHASES BALTIMORE STARS

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—The Cleveland Indians today announced purchase of two outstanding minor league infielders—First baseman Eddie Robinson and Second baseman Ted Sepeckowski of Baltimore. They will report to the Tribe Sept. 7 or Sept. 15, depending on whether Baltimore gets into the International league playoff.

Roger Peckinpaugh, Indians' vice president, said the deal was completed under Cleveland's working agreement with Baltimore, which provided the Tribe could acquire any two Orioles at a cost of $10,000 each.

"We're probably getting $100,000 worth of ball players," Peckinpaugh said. "Robinson has been one of the sensations of that league all summer and no doubt would bring $50,000 on the open market. Frank Shaughnessy, the president of the International league, was quoted last week as calling Sepeckowski a $50,000 prospect."

Robinson, 21-year-old native of Valdosta, Ga., has been batting around .304. He played with Elmira last year. Sepeckowski isn't batting .300 but Shaughnessy has called him "the greatest 18-year-old player I have ever seen." He is a native of Baltimore.

INDIANS TAKE TWO FROM SOUTH SIDE

After battling through seven well-played innings in the opener of a doubleheader which went to the East End Indians over the South Side A. C. by a count of 4-3, the Tribe unleashed a smashing attack which netted them 21 runs in the nightcap and a double win. The games were played at Centennial park.

The lid-lifter was a pitching duel between Blender and Martinelli with Blender getting the nod when his mates scored the winning run in the final frame. The East End ace allowed but three hits while his mates tagged Martinelli for eight safeties, two each by Hahn and Ritchey.

In the nightcap, the two teams fought throughout the first four frames at a see-saw clip but the Tribe unleashed a mighty assault in the fifth which plated 13 runs. With all this hitting it was easy for Pitcher Hahn to hold down the South Siders. He held the visitors practically hitless after the second frame when they bunched most of their seven hits to score five runs.

Sidinger and Hahn led the winners with the stick each hitting a double and two singles in four trips to the plate. Valente paced the losers with a double and a single in two jaunts to the home rubber.

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—According to Ned Irish, colleges aren't worrying much about transportation for their basketball teams this winter although a lot of athletic directors are keeping their fingers crossed about moving big football squads around the country. Ned's winter court program at Madison Square garden and waypoints is all set and so far no team has tried to back out of a scheduled date. Clark Shaughnessy, as usual, is visiting the Chicago Bears' training camp and spending a lot of time conferring with George Halas. Replying to a football questionnaire which asked if coaches expected a drop in caliber of play because of war conditions, spokesman for Blue Ridge college of New Windsor, Md., wrote: "If we were to have a team this coming year, which we shall not, it would be practically recruited from scratch, and, of course, could not be expected to play normal football." Blue Ridge only lost seven straight games last season.

NATIONAL LEAGUE DUSTER RULE GETS FIRST TEST TODAY

Braves Enter Bums' Den For Five-Game Set; Checkbooks Ready

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
The National league's new rule making managers subject to an automatic fine of $200 for permitting their pitchers to blaze away at a rival's noggin is due for the acid test today when the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Boston Braves collide in a doubleheader opening a five-game series.

It will be their first meeting since they spent last Saturday afternoon ducking each others high inside pitches—an exercise that is good for the legs if executed with speed but bad for the head if it isn't.

League President Ford Frick fined Manuel Salvo of the Braves $50 and Brooklyn's Whitlow Wyatt $75 for participating in the "duster" duel and warned pitchers that they also would be fined in the future along with the managers. It cost Wyatt an extra $25 to throw his bat at Salvo.

"If other pitchers throw at our players," said Brooklyn President Larry MacPhail in discussing the new league rule, "We'll give them two for one, and I don't care whether it costs $20 or $400."

So, with Manager Leo Durocher of the Dodgers backed up by MacPhail's bankroll, it is to be assumed that Professor Casey Stengel of the Braves will have his checkbook handy today in case a few well chosen pitches stray too near the region reserved for a batter's cranium.

Postponement of yesterday's bill at Ebbets field was one of four which left the major league card with only three completed contests.

In the only one in the National league, the Chicago Cubs walloped the St. Louis Cardinals, 13-5, to drop the second-place Red Birds eight and a half games behind the Dodgers.

In the American league, the Cleveland Indians came from behind in the ninth inning to edge out the Detroit Tigers, 3-2, and the St. Louis Browns crushed the Chicago White Sox, 8-3.

American league games between Boston and New York and Washington and Philadelphia, and a National league affair between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were all postponed.

HOCKETT'S DOUBLE WINS FOR INDIANS

Ninth Inning Rally Nets Three Runs, Bagby's 13th Victory

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—Oris Hockett worked a cinema finish into the way he broke up his share of a batting slump which has plagued the Indians lately.

The freshman right fielder took an hour's batting practice before yesterday's game with the Tigers, and collected dividends in a fashion that had the customers groggy.

Going into the last of the ninth inning, Detroit was leading 2-0 despite tight pitching by Jim Bagby and the Tribe had acquired only four singles off Virgil Trucks—one of them by Hockett in the sixth.

Les Fleming opened by sending a fly to Barney McCosky, Manager Lou Boudreau and Pinch Hitter Otto Denning walked, and Pinch Hitter Chubby Dean forced Denning for the second out. Al Milnar, batting for Bagby, won a pass to fill the bases, and young Jack Wilson came in to replace Trucks.

Hockett waited until the count was three and two, fouled off six fast pitches and then slammed a double off the right field screen. Milnar came in with the third and winning run to beat the relayed throw and the contest was over. Hockett was the only Indian to get two safeties, and his double was the Redskins only extra-base hit.

The verdict ended Cleveland's losing streak at six games, and permitted the Tribe to gain half a game on the idle Boston Red Sox, who found their second place margin cut to one game. It was Bagby's 13th victory against five losses.

Detroit tallied an unearned run in the second inning on an error by Boudreau, between singles by Murray Franklin and Dixie Parsons. The other Tiger run came in the sixth, when Doc Cramer doubled and scored on outs by McCosky and Pinky Higgins.

The Indians were idle today but will be hosts tomorrow night to the St. Louis Browns.
